

Programs and Events

Interested in learning more about plants? Come join us for a program! With a huge range from lectures, workshops, children and family programs, and symphonies and concerts, there's something for everyone from children through adults!

Program Registration

You may register online for the events below by selecting the title of the event. You may also register by phone at (202) 223-7500. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. Messages left to register for fee-based programs do not guarantee a reserved space. Registration over the phone for fee-based programs will only be accepted with a payment. If you prefer to register by mail, please complete a registration form and submit it along with your payment. Refunds for programs are only provided in the case of program cancellation by the U.S. Botanic Garden.

Please note: Our online calendar only displays programs five months in advance of the current month. If you are looking for a program more than five months out, please return to register for that program at a later date or call to inquire. Thank you.
